Accountability document/Self reflection

At the end of the first period I am happy to say that the group and I managed to pull through the entire project despite the obstacles we faced. Such obstacles were certain members of the group failing to abide by the agreed code of conduct, and later facing the consequences to follow.

In relation to the programming, I myself found that relatively simple once I knew which parts fit into each other (PHP, CSS and HTML alike). Although there were some bumps with OS compatibility, we easily overcame them and proceeded to finish up our work.

Team spirit was something that lasted throughout the entirety of the period with every one motivation and helping each other when required or when we saw that someone was struggling.

Towards the end of the project, we did slip off track a little bit but caught the right track back in time. This was due to miscommunication and misinterpretation between members. Something that was easily fixed.

I look forward to the project in Period 2 and the members I will work with and possibly lead.
